

Hana to Taiga: MMO World Bible

Working draft — v1 · names, locations, and numbers subject to change

1. World Overview

The MMO is set in the world of the manga Hana to Taiga (isekai), featuring original player characters rather than the manga's leads.

Geography

- One continuous continent — no separate zoned landmasses.
- Biomes shift gradually along a climate band: North (cold) → Middle (tropical) → South (hot) → Far South (cold again), mirroring real-world climate patterns.
- Kingdoms sit within biomes rather than owning them outright — kingdom borders and biome borders are not the same thing.

PvP

- No hard world PvP by default. PvP only exists in designated worlds/instances or specific city zones.

2. Factions

2.1 The Four Kingdoms

Open membership — any race can join any kingdom. Allegiance is emergent, built through quests, relationships, and wealth earned in that kingdom's currency, not chosen via a pick-a-side screen.

Kingdom	Theme
Kingdom I	War
Kingdom II	Nature
Kingdom III	Order / Registry
Kingdom IV	Trade

The Hidden Fifth Kingdom — "The Architects"

- The main villain faction, revealed later in the story.
- Responsible for engineered monsters (see Enemy Categories below).

2.2 Human Factions (1–5)

Numbered placeholders — names TBD.

1. Anti-authoritarian / off-grid group. Found everywhere, not tied to one region. Mixed criminal element (burglary, hijacking).
2. Northern snow group that trains and bonds with wolves. Isolated survivalists.
3. Fox-god cult, led by a man who claims to speak for the god directly.
4. Kaelden deserters who built their own authoritarian militarist mini-state.
5. The Architects — behind the engineered monstrosities; the main story villains (same as the Hidden Fifth Kingdom).

2.3 Enemy Categories (not factions)

- Wildlife / The Feral — mundane animals, plus tragic Blessed who lost control permanently.
- Engineered Monstrosities — dungeon/raid-only content, created by Faction 5 (The Architects).

3. Races & Classes — "The Blessed"

Race and class are fused. Being Blessed is a random occurrence with no bloodline tie, and can happen to a member of any kingdom. Humans make up the general, non-playable population; the Blessed act as protectors and are generally well-regarded by humans.

Each race has a default spec (Spec A) available from character creation, and an alternate subtree (Spec B) unlocked via a level-gated quest — players must play the default spec for a while first.

Race	Latin Name	Passive	Spec A / Spec B
Wolf	Lupine	Pack Sense — damage/speed scales with nearby allies	Tank / DPS
Bear	Ursine	Thick Hide — -10% damage taken	Tank / Tank
Fox	Vulpine	Keen Senses — detect stealth/traps	DPS / DPS
Crow	Corvine	Windborne — fly over enemies, no aggro, travel-only, no combat bonus	DPS / Healer
Hawk	Accipitrine	Marked Prey — mark an enemy for the party, bonus damage to marker	DPS / DPS
Deer	Cervine	Herd Instinct — regen aura for nearby allies	Healer / Healer
Snake	Ophidian	Placeholder — still weak, to be revisited	DPS / DPS
Rabbit	Leporine	Startle Reflex — auto speed/evasion burst on hit (on cooldown)	Healer / Healer
Hyena	Hyaenine	Bloodlust — heal from finishing low-HP enemies	Tank / DPS
Cat	Feline	Predator's Pounce — no fall damage + crit chance boost on landing (no bonus landing damage)	DPS / DPS

Trinity totals across all specs: 4 Tank / 11 DPS / 5 Healer.

4. Combat System

4.1 Human Form

- Universal — identical for all races.
- Player-built hotbar: any tank/DPS/heal actions are available to anyone.
- Cooldown-only, no resource pool.
- Weaker than Animal Form, but not by a lot.

4.2 Animal Form

- A full form-swap, not a buff state.
- Kit is race-defined.
- Resource is tied to ROLE, not race: Healer = Mana, DPS = Stamina, Tank = Rage (builds through combat, must be balanced against health).

4.3 Stats

Strength, Dexterity, Vitality, Intelligence, Focus, Endurance, Ferocity, Stamina Capacity, Precision, Ferality, Armor. (Explicitly no "Resolve" stat.)

5. Society, City & Economy

5.1 Society

- Humans: general population, includes some nobility, weaker guards than Blessed, merchants.
- Blessed: also serve as merchants/nobility, hold most (not all) guard roles, live in a separate, nicer district.
- Some cities may become Blessed-run democracies later, per-kingdom, TBD.
- Religion leans per-species (e.g., foxes worship a fox god) — to be folded into story rather than built as a standalone system.

5.2 Ennara (starting city)

Organic, unplanned layout with individually enterable shops (Town of Beginnings style), not just street NPCs.

- Courtyard (spawn)
- Harbor
- Market Sprawl
- Blessed Quarter
- Human Quarter
- Guild Row

5.3 Housing

- Blessed Inn: free permanent housing, Ennara only.
- Real housing (apartments/townhouses/houses): limited supply, drives economy and goals.
- Other kingdoms won't necessarily offer the free-inn safety net.

5.4 Currency

- Each kingdom mints its own coin.
- Every city has a currency exchange hub (not just Ennara).
- Exchange rates/fees differ by city; default flat exchange fee is 7.5% (e.g., 100 source currency → 92.50 destination currency).
- Rates may fluctuate later via an algorithm (e.g., higher in populated cities, lower in less populated) — not yet designed; 7.5% flat is the current default.

5.5 Greystone

- Suppresses Blessed abilities.
- Reserved strictly for extreme boss/encounter mechanics.
- Not craftable; not a leveling-content tool.

6. Loot & Crafting

- No first-clear exclusive rewards of any kind.
- Standard kill drops: randomized range (X to X+2) of a base material.
- Rare drops: low % chance at something better — common enemies very low %, bosses higher %.
- Crafting jobs are separate from combat spec; any race/build can level any job; job progression is level-gated.
- Materials come from enemy drops and vendor purchases (no gathering nodes yet — flagged for later).
- Starting jobs: Carpentry, Cooking, Blacksmithing.
- Output: use it, or sell to NPCs for that kingdom's local currency.

7. Death & Respawn

- No death penalty by default.
- On death, players respawn at their house (if set) or the nearest known city.
- Hardcore worlds may have harsher rules later — not yet designed.

8. Guild System

- Minimum 50 players; no max set yet.

Rank	Slots	Permissions
Guild Leader	x1	All permissions
Assistant Leader	up to x3	All permissions
Officer	up to x7	Cannot kick; can see/decide guild matters
Treasurer	up to x2	Sees/manages gold across accounts; almost no other perms
Member	—	See/interact; can add gold to shared storage

- Gold withdrawal: Treasurer requests → Assistant/Leader signs off. Same flow applies to guild bank item withdrawals.
- Guild bank holds multiple currencies (per-kingdom, whichever cities the guild deals in) plus shared item storage (FF14 company-chest style).
- Transaction log visible to Officer and up. Deposits open to all members.
- Succession/inactivity handling: TBD.
- Alliance/rivalry system: TBD, likely tied to PvP, later.
- Possible future tie-in: guild power/city government system (BDO-inspired) — not yet designed.

9. Leveling & Experience

- XP curve starts at 100 for level 1, ×3 per level thereafter (100, 300, 900, 2700, 8100...).
- Initial build/playtest level cap: 30.

- Higher-level enemies give more experience.

10. Abilities — First Pass (Animal Form, default spec, 5 each)

Wolf DPS

6. Bite — damage + self-heal 5% max HP
7. Claws — flat damage swipe
8. Dash — line dash, damage on hit/max range
9. Growl — long cooldown, reduces target armor/defense briefly
10. Rend — high Stamina cost; executes target below an HP threshold (grants a Wolf damage+resist buff on execute), or flat burst damage if above threshold

Bear Tank

11. Tough Hide — damage mitigation
12. Bite — damage
13. Hibernate — heals 10% max HP over 5s, no actions during
14. Roar — taunts nearby enemies
15. Pounce — jump to target, damage on landing + 2s root/ground

Deer Healer

16. Ranged Shot — low but efficient ranged damage
17. Mend — single-target heal
18. Renewal — multi-target heal
19. Clear Mind — removes CC
20. Bounty — increases party Mana/Stamina/Rage by 30% of max

Note: all listed kits are default-subtree only. Alternate subtrees (Wolf Tank, second Bear Tank tree, second Deer Healer tree) are not yet designed.

11. Languages

- Each race has its own language.
- Shown in-game via a per-race custom TTF font that swaps glyphs (WoW/FFXIV style) — underlying text is normal; players who don't know the language see a symbol font, those who do see normal text.
- Cosmetic only for now (no real conlang/grammar); a real constructed language may be revisited later as a stretch goal.

12. Parked for Later

Not yet designed — flagged for future passes:

- Breeding program / Fifth Kingdom mechanics
- Religion system specifics
- The other three kingdom cities (only Ennara is designed so far)
- Character creation flow detail
- Exact economy rates
- Full story / central villain arc
- Gathering nodes
- Ophidian (Snake) passive fix
- Guild succession / inactivity handling
- Guild alliance/rivalry system
- PvP (entirely on the backburner — not currently being designed)